

TYNDALE ARTS WEEK

2020

FREE ENTRY

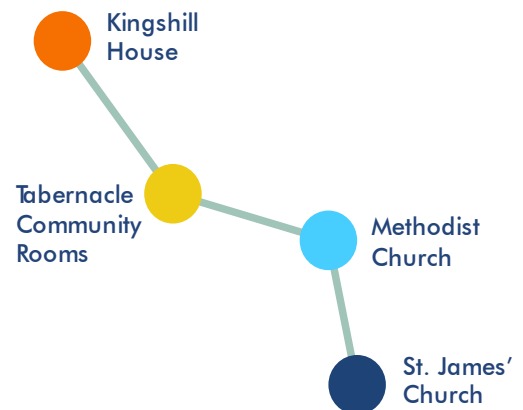

Welcome to TAW 2020

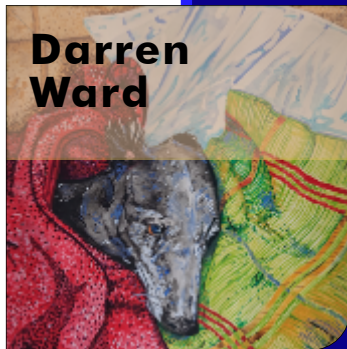

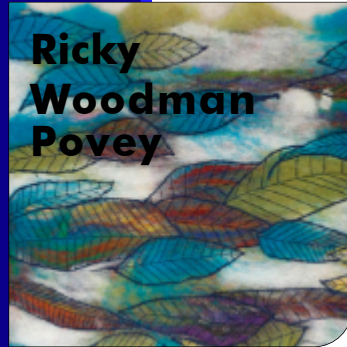

As in previous years all artists have submitted a piece to a showcase exhibition, which takes place at Kingshill House. This year's showcase will focus on work that has been created during lockdown and the associated COVID-19 restrictions. Many of the artists have turned to creativity as a means of responding to the anguish and uncertainty, with some surprising results.

Entry to the venues is free to all. All venues have been risk assessed and necessary precautions will be taken to ensure the safety of visitors, in line with government COVID-19 advice. The four venues are all within walking distance of each other and local amenities.

After spending the last 30 years working in the creative industries, I decided I needed a change of direction and re-trained to be a silversmith. But the call of the canvas proved to be too strong and I took up my brushes again. Only this time getting up close and personal with my subjects or going bold and abstract.

Media: Textiles

I am an Australian self-taught fibre artist living, working and inspired by the South West. The basis for most of my work is hand-felted wool, silk, cotton and various other fibres, with embroidery and embellishment added. I would like to push the boundaries to bring fibre to the masses and to make it a staple for fine art consumers.

Clare Stephens

Email address: clayway2014@yahoo.co.uk

Media: Ceramicist

Pieces are largely inspired from nature and geometric shapes, with a range of thrown and hand-building techniques using different clays relevant to concept and context. Decoration is with a variety of glazes, coloured slips and oxides, to enhance each form and design. Clay, my chosen media, links humanity throughout our history and cultures.

Email address: sarahdavisglass@btinternet.com

Media: Stained Glass

Sarah Davis is a stained glass artist working with traditional and modern techniques to produce work varying from small hangings and framed art pieces to installed commissions for windows and doors. She trained at Bristol School of Art and works from her studio in Slimbridge.

Sarah is particularly drawn to the way that light travels differently through coloured and patterned glass depending on its direction and the time of day. She has developed a particular interest in sgraffito painting, where intricate designs are traced freehand into a painted layer on the surface of the glass. Painted pieces are then fired in a kiln before assembly. Sarah's work is exhibited and sold throughout the West Country, and she often works with clients on bespoke designs. During lockdown Sarah has been working on a glass animal alphabet, which will be displayed at the Trail.

I have been making paper art for many years but I have only recently decided to sell it. I started The Lovable Leaf in 2018 and I am gradually increasing my ideas and designs.

I draw and hand cut all my shapes, except the very, very tiny ones when I use a paper punch. This means no two pictures are ever really the same. My work is inspired by the beautiful shapes, colours and patterns in nature.

I live in Berkeley with my husband, 4 boys and our dog. We are often in the middle of our lovely local countryside running off excess energy!

Lynda loves to experiment! From scientist to mosaic artist, she is constantly playing with new materials, intrigued by how they interact with each other. Inspiration springs from her immediate environment, often the forgotten or overlooked. She has recently discovered the Japanese aesthetic of Wabi-Sabi: 'the beauty of things imperfect, impermanent, and incomplete' which neatly encapsulates the direction of her art.

After a career in research biochemistry, Lynda co-founded TomatoJack Arts in 2011 - a mosaic studio in Berkeley, Gloucestershire which runs mosaic workshops, works with schools and community groups, as well as undertaking private commissions. She is a Professional Member of the British Association for Modern Mosaic (BAMM).

Facebook: Watercolour Artist Angela Scrivin

Media: Watercolour

I am not drawn to photographic reality and prefer to let water and pigment do what it will, with sometimes very little intervention on my part.

My inspiration is mainly drawn from the beautiful riverside village in which I live and more particularly my garden, which is one of my other passions. Away from home I am especially drawn to wild landscapes and shorelines.

We are privileged to live in a beautiful country teeming with the flora and fauna and wild places that I try to capture the essence of in my paintings. I sketch, take photographs and notes of colour, sounds and feelings as I take in my surroundings letting the natural world speak to me as it will.

I gained a BA Hons degree from Central St Martins in Fine Art Sculpture. I continued my post graduate studies here and went on to qualify in Adult Education. I was regularly exhibiting in London and the surrounding areas. On moving to the Cotswolds, with its rich history of the woollen trade, I became interested in using wool and needle felt as a medium for expression. My work explores the soft textures, subtle blends of wool combined with bold, bright colours and shimmering light effects. I work from life, taking photographs to translate into landscapes in needle felt. The autobiographical works have a three dimensional quality, and record my time in the UK and travels overseas. I undertake commissions using your own photographs, capturing those memorable places forever.
